Brightness of the squares represents connection to divinity. The lighter, the more divine they are. Pure white does not count as life and is labelled with red text.

The human intelligence line is shifted up to birds and dragons and its area is shrunken post-cataclysm. The enlightenment line is removed, and the incapability line is shifted up to around birds. All divinity connections are also lowered accordingly.

Mages are placed higher on the tree divinity-wise, but do not commonly possess significantly higher intelligence than the rest of their species.
